Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 10 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold, with some wintry showers and night frost.

Today:
Parts of southern UK rather cloudy, with showery rain in places, perhaps heavy by afternoon, even sleety in places later. Brighter in parts of Wales and southwest England. Further north, sunny spells and showers of sleet, snow or hail. Cold.

Tonight:
Rain, sleet and perhaps some wet snow in some southern parts this evening, easing overnight. Scattered sleet or snow showers in northern areas but many inland areas clear and frosty.

Sunday:
Most areas seeing sunshine at times. However showers of hail, sleet and snow, mainly towards coasts at first, developing more widely by afternoon. Still cold but winds mostly fairly light.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Cold at first before gradually turning warmer. Cloudy with rain in parts of the west on Monday, drier and brighter elsewhere. Sunny spells and scattered showers on Tuesday and Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.